Agroecology: the pathway for climate change mitigation and agriculture adaptation

With the participation of:

- Ms. Hilal Elver, UN Special Rapporteur on Right to Food
- Mr. Philippe Baret, researcher at the Catholic University of Louvain
- Mr. Badrul Alam, South Asia Coordinator for Via Campesina
- Mr. Noel Oettlé, Rural Program Manager at EMG, South Africa

The objective of the side event is to understand how family farming and agroecological approaches to agriculture can contribute to the improvement of the climatic trends (contributing to mitigation actions), reduce poverty (enhancing food and nutrition security with adaptation strategies) and enhance human security, and to identify which international mechanisms and policies should be mobilised and implemented in order to support this kind of agriculture.

A discussion moderated by Ms. Katia Roesch, program officer at Agronomes et Vétérinaires Sans Frontières
